

Behrang Kamali

Updated: December 1, 2018
kamali.behrang@gmail.com

ACADEMIC POSITION	Assistant Professor of Economics, Tehran Institute for Advanced Studies, 2017- Assistant Professor of Economics, Sharif University of Technology, 2016-2017
EDUCATION	PhD & M.S. in Economics, University of Pennsylvania May 2016 Dissertation: “Essays on Matching with Endogenous Effort” Advisor: Professor Rakesh Vohra M.S. in Socio-Economics System Engineering, Sharif University of Technology 2012 B.S. in Industrial Engineering, Sharif University of Technology 2009
RESEARCH INTERESTS	Market Design, Game Theory, Matching Theory, Contract Theory, Education Economics, Law and Economics.
PUBLICATION	Shahdadi, Behrang Kamali. “Matching with Moral Hazard: Assigning Attorneys to Poor Defendants.” American Economic Journal: Microeconomics 10, no. 3 (2018): 1-33.
WORKING PAPERS	“Matching with Endogenous Effort: How Tracking Affects the Students’ Performance and the Teachers’ Effort”
WORKS IN PROGRESS	“Labor Market Efficiency: Output as the Measure of Welfare” “The Effects of Baby Boom on Education and Housing”
TEACHING EXPERIENCE	Contract Theory, Tehran Institute for Advanced Studies, Fall 2018. Microeconomics II, Tehran Institute for Advanced Studies, Spring 2018. Microeconomics I (joint with Prof. Morovati), Tehran Institute for Advanced Studies, Fall 2017. Market Design (joint with Prof. Fatemi), Sharif University of Technology, Spring 2017. Selected Topics in Microeconomics, Tehran University, Spring 2017. Contract Theory, Sharif University of Technology, Fall 2016. Microeconomics for MBAs, Sharif University of Technology, Fall 2016, Spring 2017. Introduction to Microeconomics, University of Pennsylvania, Instructor, Summer 2015 Intermediate Microeconomics, University of Pennsylvania, Teaching assistant for Professor Rakesh Vohra Fall 2015 Game Theory & Applications (Graduate Level), University of Pennsylvania, Teaching assistant for Professor Yuichi Yamamoto Spring 2014, Spring 2015, Spring 2016 Microeconomics Theory II (Graduate Level), University of Pennsylvania, Teaching assistant for Professor George Mailath & Professor Malleesh Pai Fall 2013, Fall 2014